What's your goal for going for the year abroad?

Coucou! My name is Baaba Assan, à level 400 Political science and French student at the University of Ghana, Legon. Prior to my study abroad program in Strasbourg, understanding the complexities and speaking the french language fluently with confidence was a head-scratching issue for me. Today i can boldly tell you that I have had no regrets after studying in France. French has given my career goal of becoming an investment lawyer a facelift as I am now better placed to work in international environments thanks to my well-honed bilingual abilities.

CHOOSE France and explore this life changing experience. Till we meet again in France, Au revoir!

Choosing to go for year abroad in Pau, France is one of the best decisions I have ever made. It was the most eye-opening, adventurous and stunning journey of a lifetime. Pau is a small student city in the south of France with diverse experiences ; from the medieval château to the Grand Prix de Pau.

In the University, lecturers and staff are exceptional guides and attend to each students needs and difficulties. The lecturers lecture with the aide of class trips, movies and picnics on warm days, and encourage students to be and do the best they can. My level of French before I left Ghana was a B2.1 but after a year in Pau my level of French improved to a C1.1.

Learning new cultures, meeting new people, forming friendships with people from different walks of life and exploring the city especially during Christmas and Fête de la musique was the highlight of my stay in Pau.

Personally, studying in Pau allowed me to leave my comfort zone and experience and explore the beauty of a world outside of mine.

Before leaving for France, I could barely speak any french despite 3 years of studying French in Legon and in high school as well but my second day in France, I had to open a bank account in FRENCH. How did I do it? I was passionate about the French language and I had the determination to do better. The year abroad was such a good experience for me. It was educative and fun. Being in France shaped me as it was a year of self development. Why choose France? Because it does not just help you improve on the French language but also teaches you many different things with so many experiences you'd never forget._
